

Things to do in Shanghai

Shanghai Museum

201 Renmin Da Dao
Shanghai 200003 China
+86 21 6372 3500

Open Hours 9am-5pm Sun-Fri; 9am-8pm Sat (no entry one hour before closing time)
<http://www.shanghaimuseum.net/>

Overview this museum boasts 120,000 Chinese art pieces and archeological findings. Permanent exhibits feature bronzes, ceramics and paintings, among other artifacts.

The Bund

Huangpu District
Zhongshan Road (East-1 Zhongshan Road)

The Bund within the former Shanghai International Settlement, which runs along the western bank of the Huangpu River, facing Pudong, in the eastern part of Huangpu District. The Bund usually refers to the buildings and wharves on this section of the road, as well as some adjacent areas. The Bund is one of the most famous tourist destinations in Shanghai. Building heights are restricted in this area. The Shanghai Bund has dozens of historical buildings, lining the Huangpu River, that once housed numerous banks and trading houses from Britain, France, the U.S., Russia, Germany, Japan, The Netherlands and Belgium, as well as the consulates of Russia and Britain, a newspaper, the Shanghai Club and the Masonic Club. The Bund lies north of the old, walled city of Shanghai. This was initially a British settlement; later the British and American settlements were combined in the International Settlement. A building boom at the end of 19th century and beginning of 20th century led to the Bund becoming a major financial hub of East Asia

Yu Gardens

132 An Ren Road
Shanghai 200000 China
+86 (0)21 6355 5032

Open Hours 8:30am-5pm daily

Overview the 400-year-old Yu Gardens were built in the Ming Dynasty during the reign of Emperor Jia Jin. Recognized as a significant national heritage site, the Gardens are a remarkable.

Oriental Pearl TV Tower

2 Lane 504 Jujiazui Road
Shanghai 200120 China
+86 21 5879 1888

Open Hours 8:30am-9:30pm daily

Standing 468 meters high, the Oriental Pearl TV Tower is one of the highest towers in Asia. Tourists may climb the tower for panoramic views of the city. The ground floor features a shopping area, cafe, and an international city exhibit. It also offers deluxe conference rooms that have hosted leaders and VIPs from around the world. On clear days, the upper levels of this tower, measuring no less than 263 meters in height, offer spectacular views of the city.

Nan Jing Road (The participants who have signed up to stay in the Chine hotel will be staying on this street.)

Nan Jing Road
Shanghai 220000 China
+86 21 6333 2226
Open Hours 24 hours daily

One of the two major commercial streets in Shanghai (in addition to Huai Hai Road), Nan Jing Road spans 5.5 kilometres east to west. On both sides of the road are more than 600 shops and shopping centres carrying high quality, brand goods. The eastern part of the road is pedestrian-only with various attractions as well as its shops. Once the premier shopping street, it has been recently eclipsed by Huai Hai Road.

Huai Hai Road

Huai Hai Road
Shanghai 200001 China
+86 21 6333 2226 (Tourist Information)

Open Hours Most shops: 10am-10pm daily; street: 24 hours daily

Built in 1901, the six-kilometer-long Huai Hai Road commemorates the Huai Hai Battle during Liberation. Today, this road has become synonymous with what is trendy and fashionable in Shanghai. While the stretch between Shan Xi Road and Xi Zang Road is the busiest section (and best for people-watching), this commercial street contains more than 400 shops, restaurants and businesses. The remnants of French architecture give the street its cosmopolitan charm. Many nearby attractions add to its appeal, including the proximity of Doctor Sun Yat-sen Former Residence and Memorial Hall.

Jade Buddha Temple

170 Anyuan Road
Shanghai China
+86 21 6333 2226 (Tourist Information)
Open Hours 10a-5p daily

This temple, which was constructed in 1918, ranks as one of Shanghai's top tourist draws. The interior is heavy in the wow-factor with its classic Chinese architecture and is highlighted by a massive jade statue of Buddha. But what makes this so wildly popular is the ability to witness the temple's resident monks perform their daily ceremonies throughout its four halls. These daily "events" provide amazing first-hand insight to China's ancient religious culture. Visitors are asked to behave accordingly.

Shanghai Art Museum

325 Nanjing Xi Road West
Shanghai 200003 China
+86 21 6327 2829
Open Hours Daily 9a-5p (no entry after 4p)

<http://www.sh-artmuseum.org.cn>

The Museum occupies a heritage building, that once overlooked a racecourse. This landmark of old Shanghai is People's Square (Ren Min Guang Chang). There are twelve exhibition halls on five floors showing modern and traditional fine art. Temporary art shows are also organized regularly. Visitors can take part in sketching and painting lessons ranging from CNY150 to CNY200 (call 6327 2829 ext 200) and art lectures. The lecture hall can also be hired for functions.